BIOGRAPHY

Kelly Ransom is a partner in Kelly Hart's New Orleans office and focuses her practice on coastal law and energy, oil and gas, and environmental litigation.

Ms. Ransom represents oil and gas companies in legacy litigation in which landowners and public entities allege environmental damage from oil and gas exploration and production operations and often claim damages totaling hundreds of millions of dollars. In particular, she defends clients against claims of land loss and damaged hydrology in wetlands and coastal areas. These cases involve issues relating to federal and state laws and regulations and permits issued under state and federal coastal management laws and regulations such as Louisiana's State and Local Coastal Resources Management Act and the Clean Water Act.

Additionally, Ms. Ransom defends oil and gas clients in cases involving gas storage, as well as royalty disputes, lease maintenance claims, and other Louisiana Mineral Code claims. She gained experience representing defendants in a range of complex litigation and toxic tort cases, including NORM exposure cases, asbestos litigation, and benzene exposure cases. She has also handled various commercial litigation matters, as well as products liability cases, in both state and federal courts.

Ms. Ransom also uses her experience and knowledge of coastal issues in her community by serving on the Board of Directors of New Harmony High, a state-chartered high school focused on coastal restoration and preservation. After serving on New Harmony High's Founding Board of Directors, Ms. Ransom was recently elected Chairman of the Board, as well as Chair of the Board's Governance Committee.
